COUNCIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

WASHINGTON, D. C. 20004

March 31, 1976

Dear Mr. Helling:

The Committee on Transportation and Environmental Affairs will be addressing Bill 1-200, the District of Columbia Clean Indoor Air Act (Introduced by Julius W. Hobson) and Bill 1-212, the District of Columbia Non-Smokers Rights Act (Introduced by Chairman Sterling Tucker) in public hearings on Tuesday, April 27, 1976 at 10:00 a.m., 2:00 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. The general purpose of the two bills is to protect the public health, comfort and environment of individuals by prohibiting smoking in public places and at public meetings, except in designated smoking areas.

Because of your interest in this issue, I cordially invite you to testify at the hearings. If you wish to present testimony at this hearing, you should contact Ms. Gwen Bohlke at 724-8077 before 5:00 p.m., Friday, April 23, 1976.

Sincerely,

Julius W. Hobson

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud.

2. The second part of the document outlines the specific requirements for record-keeping, including the need to maintain separate accounts for each transaction and to ensure that all records are properly indexed and filed.

3. The third part of the document discusses the importance of regular audits and reviews of the records. It states that audits should be conducted at least once a year and that the results of the audits should be reported to the appropriate authorities.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the importance of training and education for all personnel involved in the record-keeping process. It states that all personnel should receive regular training and education to ensure that they are up-to-date on the latest record-keeping practices.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining the confidentiality of the records. It states that all records should be stored in a secure location and that access to the records should be restricted to authorized personnel only.

6. The sixth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining the accuracy of the records. It states that all records should be entered accurately and that any errors should be corrected immediately.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining the completeness of the records. It states that all transactions should be recorded and that no records should be omitted or deleted.

8. The eighth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining the consistency of the records. It states that all records should be entered in the same format and that any changes should be made consistently.

9. The ninth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining the timeliness of the records. It states that all records should be entered as soon as possible after the transaction occurs and that any delays should be explained.

10. The tenth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining the security of the records. It states that all records should be protected from theft, loss, and damage and that appropriate security measures should be in place.

Resolution to declare April 9, 1976 as a day to Commemorate and Honor Paul Robeson

Please place the attached resolution to declare April 9, 1976, as a day to commemorate and honor Paul Robeson on the legislative agenda for consideration at the Council's legislative session on April 6, 1976.

Attachment - as stated.

A Resolution

In the Council of the District of Columbia

To declare April 9, 1976 as a day to commemorate and honor

Paul Robeson

Whereas, Paul Robeson's historic accomplishments should live in the hearts and minds of all progressive people; and

Whereas, the achievements and talents of this great athlete, singer, actor, linguist, lawyer, and scholar are unsurpassed in American history; and

Whereas, he dedicated all of his talents to the cause of freedom for his people and to the progress of human society; and

Whereas, this fighter for civil rights, supporter of workers' struggles, enemy of colonial oppression, spokesman for peace and friendship among nations refused to retreat an inch in his advocacy of those principles, even in the face of the most severe sanctions in the dark period of McCarthyism.

Whereas, all children should have the opportunity, if they choose, to model their lives after Paul Robeson whose career in academics, the arts, and the cause of international peace and brotherhood are an inspiration to us all.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT:

Resolved by the Council of the District of Columbia that this resolution may be cited as the "Paul Robeson Commemoration Resolution".

Sec. 2. The Council of the District of Columbia declares April 9, 1976, Paul Robeson's birthday, as a day to commemorate and honor the achievements of this great American.

Sec. 3. This resolution shall take effect immediately upon its adoption.

Dear Mr. Mprphy:

I am writing on behalf of a constituent, Mr. Donald E. Brown, Sr. of 1510 First Street, S.W. According to Mr. Brown, he was involved in an accident at the corner of Warner and Lamont Streets, N.W. on September 21, 1975 and subsequently charged with failing to yield the right of way and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

When his case came up for trial on December 9, 1975 Mr. Brown was found "not guilty" of the charges listed in the first paragraph. However, On March 22, 1976 Mr. Brown received a form letter from Mr. Daniel B. Garrett, Jr. Acting Chief, Permit Control Division, requesting that he report to the 1905 E Street, N.W. Admission Office for alcohol consulting. Because he was found not guilty of driving while intoxicated Mr. Brown believes he should not be required to attend alcohol ~~connael~~ counseling sessions twice a week for six weeks in order to obtain his driver's permit.

I would like to have some background information, including a brief summary, on the problem by April 12, 1976. In your summary please discuss what actions you have taken and what further steps you plan to take.

I look forward to hearing from you and thank you for your cooperation.

Dear Mr. Caldwell:

I have reviewed the proposal which Special Approaches in Juvenile Assistance (SAJA) has submitted to the D.C. Commission on the Arts and Humanities. I am familiar with the fine work which SAJA has done for troubled young people and their families over the past few years.

I am quite pleased to see that SAJA has initiated this move into the area of cultural programs; their proposal for a creative writing program is an excellent idea. It would give young people a chance to develop their creativity with guidance and interest from local poets and writers as well as help to refine their communication skills. I have seen some of their young people's work in the SAJA Quarterly, and I have found it refreshing and appealing.

I certainly hope that you will give their proposal every consideration for funding. Such an innovative approach to the arts, coupled with the obvious value to the lives of the young people involved, makes it an extremely worthwhile project.

Sincerely yours,

The Honorable
Governor
State Capitol

Dear Governor :

Recently I introduced a bill before the Council of the District of Columbia which would restrict smoking in public, except in designated areas. The "D.C. Clean Indoor Air Act" is in response to concerns of non-smokers who want protection from the effects of second-hand smoke. A copy of the bill is enclosed for your information.

It has been brought to my attention that your legislature has enacted a law which places some restrictions on smoking in public places... I am interested in finding out how your law is working and would appreciate it if you would share some of the experiences encountered in your jurisdiction with me.

Hearings on my bill and a parallel bill are scheduled for mid-April. For this reason a timely response would be extremely useful so that we may incorporate experiences in other jurisdictions into the public record.

Sincerely,

JULIUS W. HOBSON

SUBJECT: The Council's Revenue bill vote of March 11, 1976

I made a mistake in casting my ballot on the Revenue bill yesterday and since it does not change the outcome, I would appreciate it if you could change my vote to a positive instead of a negative vote on this bill.

DIRECT DEMOCRACY FOR THE DISTRICT BY THE NOVEMBER 1976 ELECTION ---- HOBSON INTRODUCES INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM ACT

Councilman Julius W. Hobson (Statehood at Large) announced today he is introducing the "Initiative and Referendum Act" which he hopes will enable the District of Columbia voters (by November) to recommend the enactment of their own legislation and to recommend the veto of legislation already passed by the Council and signed by the Mayor through the initiative and referendum process.

Simply stated, the initiative is the process by which a specified percentage of qualified voters may, through petition, write legislation and place it on the ballot for adoption or rejection by the voting public. If such a measure received a majority vote, it would be forwarded directly to Congress as a recommendation for action.

The referendum process allows the citizens, through petition, to place enacted legislation on the ballot for voter consideration. If a majority of the voters recommends to reject the legislation, the measure is then transmitted directly to Congress with a recommendation that the legislation be reconsidered and rejected.

Hobson's bill sets forth a simple process for the people to utilize both the initiative and referendum. The initiative requires that 5% of the qualified electors must sign the petition initiating the proposed measure before it is placed on the ballot. If a simple majority of those voting on the measure ratify it, the citizen initiated measure becomes a recommended act.

The referendum procedure requires that a petition calling for a measure to be submitted to the people must be signed by at least 5% of the qualified electorate before it can be placed on the ballot. Upon qualification, the legislation is voted on by the public, and if a simple majority votes against the measure that recommended rejection of the legislation is then transmitted to Congress for action. "Issues such as gun control, marijuana reform, and returnable bottles could not be ducked," Hobson stated.

"The process of initiative and referendum is well established," explained Hobson, "22 States have adopted such provisions in their constitutions. States such as California, Oregon, Washington, and Colorado have made extensive use of referendum and initiative over the past 50 years and its use has become a routine part of the legislative process of these states. In the District, the modified initiative and referendum provisions would supplement the present legislative process by enabling the public to participate directly in policy decisions affecting their lives and welfare as early as the 1976 General Election.

Subject The Initiative and Referendum Act

At the next legislative session on March ,1976, I am introducing the "Initiative and Referendum Act". The purpose of the bill is to allow the citizens of the District of Columbia to participate directly in their own government through the initiative and referendum process by the November 1976 election. Simply defined, the initiative is the process whereby a prescribed percentage of qualified voters may, through petition, place legislation on the ballot for adoption or rejection by the voters. Such recommended legislation is then referred directly to Congress for action. The referendum is the means by which the voters, through petition, may submit to popular vote a measure already passed by the City Council and signed by the Mayor and thereby directly ask Congress to change the measure.

The essential elements of the initiative provision of the bill require that:

1. Any initiative measure which is to be proposed must be presented to the Board of Elections and Ethics, accompanied by a petition that sets forth the text of the proposed legislation.
2. The initiative petition must be signed by at least 5% of the qualified voters in the District of Columbia who voted for Mayor at the last mayoral election.
3. The petition must qualify at least 60 days before the next general election if it is to be considered by the voters at that election. (A special election on the initiated measure may be called.)
4. Upon qualification, the initiated measure would be placed on the ballot without alteration for consideration at the next general election.
5. If a majority of electors vote in favor of the initiative measure, it shall be transmitted directly to Congress with the recommendation that Congress initiate and pass such legislation.

The basic elements of the referendum portion of the bill provide that:

1. Any referendum measure which is to be submitted to voters must be presented to the Board of Elections and Ethics asking that the act or part of it be submitted to the electors.
2. The referendum petition must be signed by at least 5% of the qualified voters of the District of Columbia who voted for Mayor at the last mayoral election.
3. The referendum petition must qualify at least 30 days before the next general election if it is to be considered at that election. (A special election to consider a referendum measure may be called.)
4. Emergency acts, laws calling for elections, and laws providing for tax levies or appropriations for the operating budget of the District of Columbia are not subject to a referendum vote.
5. A referendum measure approved by a majority of votes shall be transmitted directly to Congress with the recommendation that Congress reconsider and reject the legislation.

The idea of initiative and referendum in the United States developed at the turn of the Century as an out growth of the Progressive Reform Movement. The Progressives saw the power of initiative and referendum as a tool for the people to take direct action and therefore bypass the traditional, and often cumbersome, legislative process and executive veto. More recently this theme has repeated itself, particularly in the post-Watergate atmosphere. Recent public opinion polls suggest that the public has become increasingly suspicious of the traditional political process with what they perceive as its special interests, highly paid lobbyists, and unresponsive public officials and favor reforms in the political system which would give them a final check. The initiative and referendum are means to this end.

South Dakota was the first state to adopt initiative and referendum provisions and make them a part of its constitution in 1898. Since that time 21 other states have adopted both the initiative and referendum as amendments to their constitutions. California has made the greatest use of its initiative and referendum provisions. Since their adoption in 1911, 201 measures have been placed before the voters of California through the initiative process. Of these 201 measures, 44 have been adopted. As recently as 1974 the voters in that state approved Proposition 9, the Political Reform Initiative concerning financial disclosures and limitations affecting political campaigns. This year the initiative process has been successfully used to qualify a Nuclear Safeguards ballot proposition which is to be presented to the California voters in June 1976.

In the District of Columbia the initiative and referendum provisions of the proposed "Initiative and Referendum Act" would have to be modified as a "recommendation" to Congress rather than automatically becoming law in order to avoid an arduous and time consuming amendment to the Home Rule Charter. Since the legislative process in the District of Columbia now includes concurrence by the U.S. Congress, this first initiative and referendum process has been modified to consider this reality. This bill will allow the electorate to voice directly its sentiments and make that sentiment publically known. The experience in California, as well as in Oregon, Washington, and Colorado, indicate that their citizens have used the initiative and referendum in a responsible and intelligent manner, and its use has become a routine part of the legislative process in those states.

The initiative and referendum are effective tools for self government. I welcome your support.

A Bill

In the Council of the District of Columbia

Councilmember Julius W. Hobson introduced the following bill which was referred to the Committee on _____.

To provide the citizens of the District of Columbia with the power of initiative and referendum; and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Council of the District of Columbia that this act may be cited as the "Initiative and Referendum Act".

Initiative

Sec. 101. The initiative is the power of the electors of the District of Columbia to propose legislation and refer such legislation directly to the electorate to pass or reject the same.

Sec. 102. (a) An initiative measure may be proposed by presenting to the Board of Elections and Ethics a petition that sets forth the text of the proposed legislation; and

(b) is certified by the Board of Elections and Ethics to have been signed by qualified electors equal in number to five percent of those persons casting votes for all candidates for Mayor at the last mayoral election.

Sec. 103. The Board of Elections and Ethics shall then submit the initiative measure without alteration at the next general election held at least 60 days after it qualifies or at a special election held prior to that general election.

Sec. 104 (a) If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the initiative measure vote in favor thereof, such initiative measure shall thereupon become an initiative act.

(b) The Chairman of the Council of the District of Columbia shall transmit all such initiative acts to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate on the day the Board of Elections and Ethics certifies that a majority of the qualified electors voting on the initiative measure voted in favor thereof.

(c) Any initiative measure which has been ratified by a majority of the qualified electors shall be referred to Congress with the request that a vote be taken on the initiative act within the thirty day period (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays and any day on which either House is not in session) beginning on the day such initiative act is transmitted by the Chairman of the Council of the District of Columbia to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate. Such an initiative act shall take effect only if both Houses of Congress adopt a concurrent resolution, according to the procedures specified in Section 604 of the District of Columbia Self-Government and Governmental Reorganization Act.

Referendum

Sec. 201. The referendum is the power of the electors of the District of Columbia to recommend that Congress approve or reject acts or parts of acts, except emergency acts, acts calling for tax levies or appropriations for the operating budget of the District of Columbia, and thereby request the reconsideration and rejection of such acts.

Sec. 202. (a) A referendum may be proposed by presenting to the Board of Elections and Ethics a petition that sets forth the text of the act or a part of the act which is to be submitted to the electors; and

(b) is certified by the Board of Elections and Ethics to have been signed by qualified electors equal in number to five percent of those persons casting votes for all candidates for Mayor at the last mayoral election.

Sec. 203. The Board of Elections and Ethics shall submit the measure at the next general election held at least 30 days after it qualifies or at a special election held prior to that general election.

Vote and Effective Date -- Conflicts

Sec. 301. (a) The Chairman of the Council of the District of Columbia shall transmit all referendum measures approved by the electorate to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate on the day the Board of Elections and Ethics certifies that a majority of the qualified electors voting on the referendum voted in favor thereof.

(b) Any referendum which has been approved by a majority of the qualified electors shall be referred to Congress with the request that a vote be taken on the referendum result with the thirty day period (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays and any day on which either House is not in session) beginning on the day such a referendum is transmitted by the Chairman of the Council of the District of Columbia to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate. Such a referendum shall take effect only if both Houses of Congress adopt a concurrent resolution, according to the procedures specified in Section 604 of the District of Columbia Self-Government and Governmental Reorganization Act, approving such a referendum.

Sec. 302. If provisions of two or more measures approved at the same election conflict, those of the measure receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

Sec. 303. Prior to circulation of an initiative or referendum petition for signatures, a copy shall be submitted to the Mayor who shall prepare a title and summary of the measure.

Sec. 304. The Council of the District of Columbia shall provide the manner in which petition shall be circulated, presented and certified and measures submitted to the electors.

Miscellaneous Provisions

Sec. 401. If any provisions of this act, or any section, sentence, clause, phrase or word or the application thereof, in any circumstances is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of the act and of the application of any provision, section, sentence, clause or word shall not be effected.

Sec. 402. This act shall take effect as provided for acts of the Council of the District of Columbia in Section 602 (c) of the District of Columbia Self-Government and Governmental Reorganization Act.
